THE BEST, AND CHEAPEST, AND MOST UNIFORM SERIES OF STANDARD SCHOOL BOOKS

FOR THOSE BOOKS

EVER PUBLISHED.

To those engaged in the important, but arduous task of instructing youth, McGUFFEY'S ECLECTIC READERS, Nos. ONE, Two, Three and Four, are now presented, thoroughly revised, and greatly enlarged, with many important improvements. They are now in a permanent stereotype form, NO FURTIER ALTERATIONS being intended.

Prof. McGuffey's enthusiastic devotion to the cause of Education, his fine taste and discriminating mind, and his practical experience as an instructor, render him peculiarly fitted for the department of authorship, to which he has given his attention. The suggestions of intelligent teachers who had used the former editions of the series, and the valuable aid afforded him in the revision by an experienced educator, have also furnished him with unusual facilities for advantageously revising and enlarging these works.

In this series, comprising as it does, a careful selection of instructive, entertaining and moral matter, progressively arranged, and graduated with reference to the capacity of the pupil, Prof. McGuffey has afforced to patents and teachers, a most thorough, complete, and efficient auxiliary in the education of youth. Its extensive use has been sufficient for the development and just appreciation of its many excellencies. The result is, that intelligent teachers pronounce it the most complete series now before the public.

The intrinsic merit of Prof. McGuffey's Eclectic Readers, having gained for them an unparalleled and rapidly increasing circulation, the publisher is enabled, notwithstanding the heavy expenditure in their revision and enlargement, to manufacture them in the neatest and most durable manner, while they are now furnished at such low prices, that they are the CHEAPEST, as well as the best school reading books extant.

He had seen, he said, the only Wire-Suspension Bridge in the United States, (that near Philadelphia,) and could say of his own knowledge, that that bridge was as much superior to the Wernwag bridge as the Wernwag bridge was superior to the older bridges. The girl who answered the bell soon returned and told the lady of the house, that a poor woman was at the door, begging a night's lodging. The lady cast a troubled look at the dead leaves that were whirling in the eddies along the streets, and then at the dark clouds drifting together overwith a heavy heart, and went to the door where the stranger stood holding the hand of a pale, sad looking little boy, about six years of age. Accordingly she led them into the house, and while the bed was preparing she urged them to eat, but they both refused food, and as soon as their bed was ready, they retired, and soon fell asleep.

When the master of the house returned and heard what had happened, he exclaimed angrily:

lespair, but the little boy, with a nervous agitation, painfully different from the motions of a happy, healthy child, sprang from the bed clasping his thin hands together, fell on his knees and cried out, in a shrill, imploring tone, "O, sir! don't turn us out this dark night! we are tired almost to death. O, lo let us stay till daylight." The gentlemen relented at the appeal, and turn-seat in the neighboring room, and prepared to fulfil her promise, by watching them all night. The strangers slept heavily, but not quietly. The poor woman groaned often, and murmured in her sleep, of many sorrows. Once or twice, she said, with a deep sigh, "Well! well! my heart is breaking, but the Lord is good." * In after years, that lady was called to endure loss after loss, and trial after trial, until her heart was almost crushed within her; but often when she was ready to sink in despair, the sleeping words of that unknown widow came home to her heart, and brought strength and comfort, and she felt herself Ill An act to regulate the terms of the Christian richly repaid for a sleepless night when she had Court. WAR FOR OREGON .- It has been suggested in distinguished quarters that the Territory of Oregon is worthless. It has also been said on both sides of the Atlantic that the territory cannot long be governed either from Westminster or Washington; but that it will require a separate government of its own. If either of these assertions be true, a war, in this age of civilization, to determine the tille to Oregon, will be "monstrous" and "impious" beyond any wager of battle in history. GEOPONICS. A NEW AGRICULTURAL WRINKLE .- A funny story is told of an old friend of ours-one who, sick and PHRENOLOGICAL DEVELOPMENTS OF DANIEL tired of the care and bustle of a city life, has retired into the country and "gone to farming" as the saying is. His land, albeit well situated and commanding sundry romantic prospects, is not so particularly fertile as some we have seen - requiring scientific culture and a liberal use of guano of some sort to induce an abundant yield. So far by way of explanation.

Once upon a time, as the story-books say, our friend, being on a short visit to the city, was attending an auction sale down town, and it so happened they were selling damaged sausages at the time .-There were some eight or ten barrels of them, and they were "just going at fifty cents per barrel," when the auctioneer, with all apparent seriousness, remarked that they were worth more than that to manure land with. Here was an idea. "Sixty-two and a half," said our friend. TREASON IN THE CAMP .- Ever and anon some inependent spirit in the ranks of the "Harmonious Democracy," kicks out of the traces, and makes a general smash of what with Locos may rightly be called earthen ware-we mean character. those rapscallions who look to such a man as Wm. Tanner, "the man what had to be tied up," as the xponent and embodiment of locofocoism in Kentucky, will hear with astonishment the way the Georgetown Herald lashes him. The editor of that paper, whoever he is, is an able, independent, noble spirit; for some time since the Yeoman made insinuations against the Public Printer, the Herald man a Democrat too, called on him to specify or retract. The Yeoman, who, rascal and vile, mean, ontemptible scoundrel as he is, did neither, but took the Herald to task for daring to doubt his power and veracity, &c. The Yeoman has the worst of the battle .- Hopkinsville Gazette.

"Yea, verily;" the supient editor of the Yeoman deems it officious for us to say a word about State policy! unless, (we suppose,) by his high permission and divine approbation. He imagines himself to be the great "I AM" of the Democratic party in Kentucky, and takes it in great dudgeon, that a paper professing Democratic principles, should presome to differ with him in opinion, even on a question of mere right or wrong, involving no principle of Democracy. We assume, and shall ever fearlessly maintain the right of expressing our opinions openly and candidly, on any subject which may present itself to public attention; and we would scorn to suppress an honest opinion, or act contrary to our views of right, for the purpose of creeping into fa-vor with a party or with an individual."

THE PRINTER .- The printer is the most curious eing living. He may have a bank and quoins, and yet not be worth a cent; have SMALL CAPS and have neither wife nor children. Others run fast, but he gets along swiftest by setting fast. He may be making impressions without eloquence; may use the ye without offending, and be telling the trath; while thers cannot stand and set, he can set standing, and even do both at the same time; have and use furniture, vet own no dwelling; may make and put away pi and never see a pie, much less eat it during life; oress a great deal, and not ask a favor, and hundle a shooting-iron, and know nothing about cannon, gun, or pistol; may move the lever that moves the world, and yet he as far from moving the globe as a og with his nose under a mole-hill; spread sheets rithout being a housewife; he may lay his form on hed, and yet be obliged to sleep on the bare floor; ise the dagger without shedding blood; and from the earth handle the stars (); he may be of a rolling disposition, and never travel; he may have a sheep's oot, and not be deformed; never be without a case. and know nothing about law or physic; be always correcting his errors and grow worse every day: have embraces (without ever having the arms of a loss thrown around him; distribute the metalic all around him, daily, and be as close-fisted and as uncharitable as the veriest miser; have his form locked up and still be free from jail, watch-house, or any other confinement; his office may have a hell in t, and not be such a bad place after all, be may be lagued by the devil and be a christian of the best And what is stranger still, be he honest or dishonest, rich, or poor, drunk or sober, industrious or lazy, he always stands up to his business .- Rich-

Mr. B., by his late improvements, pledges himself to give the eyes and hair perfect with all their brightness and colors.
